A functional approach to Fitness & Active Rehabilitation

OUR SERVICE & PRICES

What is KINESIOLOGY?

Simply, kinesiology is the scientific study of human movement. It is a multidisciplinary approach to movement and encompasses such areas as human anatomy and physiology, biomechanics, and psychomotor behaviour. Our background prepares us to apply the most effective training techniques in the area of active rehabilitation and injury prevention through movement screening assessments, mobility work, strengthening, conditioning and personal training.

Why choose InFOCUS Wellness Inc?

Our team is qualified, experienced and will help you reach personal fitness or active rehabilitation goals as efficiently and effectively as possible. All of our trainers have acquired significant practical application of their knowledge.

We believe that clients benefit from our quiet atmosphere where they can not only learn all the necessary tools to facilitate their rehabilitation, but also initiate their program in the comfort of our private studio prior to a gradual progression into a community facility.

Each program will actively address balance, posture and stability limitations with a progressive exercise prescription that emphasizes self-empowerment and education. We will deliver the knowledge and techniques needed for the individual to reduce pain and restore their standard of living to the best of their abilities.

Intake Process:

Once approved by ICBC, lawyer, case manager and/or doctor, an initial assessment is performed which includes:

- Obtaining background information on medical history and treatments since accident.
- Detailing general work demands and job requirements if applicable.
- Pre-test screening (including heart rate and blood pressure, weight, etc).
- Functional Movement Screens (FMS).
- Various range of motion testing.
- Quantitative measures including isometric strength, muscular strength and endurance, and cardiovascular endurance.
- Subjective measures including perceived limitations (Modified OSWESTRY, Modified Neck Disability Index), goals, etc.

Following the assessment we will provide our recommendations as to the number of sessions and the plan of action for approval.

Once approved, an individualized program plan is developed. Each program is developed to consider both the nature of the injury and the occupational and leisure requirements of the individual.

During exercise sessions, clients will be taught to perform their program's exercises independently of the kinesiologist. The number of sessions required to develop this independence will depend on the severity of injury and client's experience.
